“Fear and Desperation”
by Tom Holbrook

Thank the good Lord we live in America where our right to speak is protected by the Constitution and we are able to say what we feel about situations in the public venue, talent and tactics of sports teams and sports celebrities, political figures, the government in general, and pretty much anything else we want. I also thank the good Lord that he has given us the benefit of a brain to discern and refrain from saying those things which are lying, vicious and damaging to individuals and to our country. Unfortunately, there are still a miniscule few out there who choose only to enjoy the first benefit and ignore the second one.

As demonstrated in the recently held Judge Samuel Alito Senate confirmation hearings a good man was barraged with a litany of accusatory innuendoes, misshapen facts, and non-contextual quotes only to paint a false picture of a man who has served his country honorably for many years and who has been nominated to serve on our country’s highest judicial bench. Why would supposed intelligent and sage elected officials do such a thing to another person? The answer is simply... Fear and Desperation!

The Democrat leaders Fear that allowing the truth to be told freely about Judge Alito would guarantee his confirmation to the United States Supreme Court and that he would ultimately cast his vote with those who would recant and nullify the 1973 Roe v. Wade decision legalizing the taking of a baby’s life while still in the womb.

The left’s Desperation is that Judge Alito and the other non-activist justices on the Supreme Court could possibly, in lieu of overturning the infamous 1973 decision, demand that lower courts adhere to the original intent of that decision by not allowing future abortions of unborn children for the slightest whim, fancy or reason. The 1973 opinion was primarily aimed at allowing abortion in the cases of rape, incest or disastrous medical consequences to the mother. But, just as they have done with the United States Constitution, the liberal left has so corrupted the original intent of the 1973 Roe decision, through activist lower courts and our Supreme Court, over 98% of all abortions performed today are for cosmetic reasons totally unrelated to the three allowed conditions mentioned above.

The left cannot help feeling desperate because their sole reason for being in office is their stance for abortion for any reason, at any time, by anyone, of any age. They are pandering to the fanatical female fringe that helps keep them in office. They have no idea whether Judge Roberts or Judge Alito will vote to overturn Roe but they are so fearful and desperate they must do everything they can to drag their names through the mud, impugning integrities, hopefully to create a hue and cry from the American people.

It’s not just elected politicians who are manufacturing and throwing mud at those on the right. Hollywood celebrities are active in the trenches of negative, less than truthful, propaganda toward the current administration and anyone who supports it. One such individual, with WV ties, has been very busy and vocal the last few years in smearing President Bush and anyone in his administration, even those of his own color who have risen to the top of our government's echelons.

Harry Belafonte, admirably, has been active in the Civil Rights struggle since its beginning saying time and time again that our government did not recognize the talents and wisdom of American blacks and urged all sitting Presidents to include more in their administrations. Unfortunately, as others who are talking the talk but not walking the walk, Mr. Belafonte now speaks out of both sides of his mouth. Why, we ask ourselves, would he do such a thing? I can only guess that he is being used by the Democratic party, of which he has been a constant supporter, and/or the outdated, terribly racist organization, the NAACP, who also walks a different walk than it talks.

When confronted with the facts that the Bush administration has done more than any other United States President to further the cause of African-Americans, specifically appointing Gen Colin Powell as the first black ever to serve as Secretary of State; Dr. Rod Paige, the first black Secretary of Education; and Condoleezza Rice former National Security Adviser and current Secretary of State, Mr. Belafonte immediately erased their enormous contributions to our country and removed the pride many blacks held for these great Americans with one, intentionally racist statement originally espoused by the black Muslim leader Malcolm X, and I quote... “There was two kinds of slaves. There was the house Negro and the field Negro. The house Negroes, they lived in the house with master, they dressed pretty good, they ate good 'cause they ate his food and what he left... In those days he was called a 'house nigger.' And that's what we call him today, because we've still got some house niggers running around here.” Does that sound like a true champion of his people or someone with a political axe to grind?

Mr. Belafonte has recently added fuel to his leftist, socialist vehicle of choice by appearing beside President Hugo Chavez of Venezuela with actor Danny Glover, and telling the South American leader that “millions of Americans” support his socialistic revolution and called President George Bush “...the greatest tyrant of the world and greatest terrorist of the world...” Do we still wonder why a large number of blacks in America don't trust their government when their “spokespersons” feed them this kind of divisive and racist garbage continually?

Thankfully, the majority of Americans hears the lies and hears them for what they really are. Hopefully the remaining number who are being duped will recognize the truth, break free from their oppression and start thinking and acting on their own. Mr. Belafonte.... “... Daylight come, and you should go home.”
