“Watch ACORN Grow”

by
Tom Holbrook

Well, normally the squirrels gather the acorns and hide them until they're needed, but in the case of this year's Presidential Election it seems that the ACORN is gathering the squirrels (voters) and hiding them until they're needed on Election Day. In 8 states multi-thousands of homeless, jobless and nameless individuals are being rounded up and signed up as registered voters, sometimes as many as 73 times for the same person, but with different addresses. In Nevada investigations revealed that one voter recruiter signed up the entire Dallas Cowboy football team.

The organization that is perpetrating this felonious action is a National, tax-payer funded, left leaning group known as A.C.O.R.N., which stands for Association of Community Organizations for Reform Now. Some of the ACORN employees and organizers have stated that they had nothing to do with the illegal actions and that they are the true victims here... not the American people. However, one lady who was in charge of going around and picking up homeless people to bring them to a Ohio registration center to register and vote the same day, was seen on a television interview acknowledging that she told those she brought in to vote for Obama.

Those being registered were sometimes paid $20 or more, given cigarettes, food or other incentives to register and others, like Christopher Barkley, a homeless individual in Cleveland, OH, said he allowed himself to be registered 13 times to help the person doing the registration keep his job. Ohio's state Director for ACORN said she thought the complaints were Republican partisans harassing her organization for political gain. However, in Nevada it is the Democratic Secretary of State who is leading the charge against the voter fraud, raiding ACORN's Las Vegas headquarters and confiscating their computers, and documents as evidence. In one state ACORN hired an ex-con whose crime was theft-identity to supervise the registering process in that area. Talk about allowing the foxes into the hen house.

Senator Obama had stated he had nothing to do with the organization or solicited their support with contributions to them, but later had to recant that statement and say his campaign had contributed to the organization through other aligned organizations. Obama stated also that prior to being elected to the Illinois State Legislature he had served as ACORN's attorney in the Chicago area.

According to the Associated Press, over 1.3 million poor and working-class and it seems, the non-working class, voters have been added to the voting rolls in 18 states. Unfortunately, no one really knows how many of that 1.3 million are even alive. Estimates suggest many thousands of them will be found to be fraudulent.

Of course to keep it balanced, in Georgia, the ACLU is accusing the Georgia Attorney General of being too strict in her enforcement of a Federal Law that demands proper identification of potential voters through the use of driver's licenses and/or Social-Security numbers. The largest group protesting the law is made up of thousands of immigrant workers.

It seems that the American people will be the big losers in this conundrum. I guess we should allow just anyone who wishes to determine who our next president will be to enter the polling place... whether that person is a legal, qualified voter, or even a citizen? Unfortunately, it looks like we might have to get use to more of the same in the future.
